

Their, There, and They're

Their is a possessive pronoun.

There is usually an adverb.

They're is a combination of they and are.

Their bikes were stolen.

You left your hat over there.

They're late for school.

To, Two, and Too

To is a preposition.

To is also part of an infinitive.

Two is a number.

Too means "also."

I went to the store.

I like to walk in the park.

Max bought two apples.

Anne bought apples too.

Name: _____ Date: _____

Homonyms: Exercise 15: Their, There, and They're

CONFUSING WORDS

Directions: Read the following sentences carefully and choose the correct homonym (their, there, or they're) to write in the blanks.

1. _____ asking to go to the picnic with us.
2. Rome is beautiful; I would like to go _____ sometime.
3. I think _____ going to the movie at six o'clock tonight.
4. My sisters hide _____ diaries in the closet.
5. _____ were no raised hands when Mrs. White asked the question.
6. Paul thought we should go _____ after school.
7. We played Polk School in tennis, and _____ team was very good.
8. Students get report cards so they can see how _____ doing in class.
9. _____ very mad because we didn't wait for them at the bus.
10. Do we need to go here or _____ to get our flu shot?
11. Have you seen _____ new puppy?
12. I don't think _____ ready to go to school yet.
13. That's my brother and sister; _____ in the same school.
14. Len could get _____ attention when he yelled.
15. Look, _____ she is across the street.

Name: _____ Date: _____

Homonyms: Exercise 2: To, Two, and Too CONFUSING WORDS*Directions: Read the following sentences carefully and choose the correct homonym (to, two, or too) to write in the blanks.

1. We took _____ weeks to finish our class project.
2. Where are you going _____ buy your new shoes?
3. I asked my sister if I could go to the movie _____.
4. I think I ate _____ much food at the party.
5. I really think my math class this year is _____ hard for me.
6. Rudy went _____ the store with his mom.
7. Kyoko thought there were _____ juice boxes left in the refrigerator.
8. Do you think Mike likes this television program _____?
9. _____ many students are on the tennis team.
10. Pat thinks we need _____ ask permission to go there.
11. This is _____ unbelievable!
12. I need _____ cups of flour for the cookie recipe.
13. Let's wait _____ buy the books until later.
14. My sister whined that she wanted to go _____.
15. The clock read half past _____ o'clock.

